SENIORS OF 1942

"Ad Astra Per Aspera" Red and yellow roses Crimson and gold

Sattl on—Straight into the West, farther and farther the Seniors steered their course. Our first year passed. The second found us anchored safely in the port of R. H. S. The faculty ordered us to keep alert. Impatiently and anxiously we passed the critical third year period. Taut with excitement we became Seniors. Had not this been our destination?

Ketth Nesbitt, our pilot, Miss Bartley and Mr. Mohr, our co-commanders fired our imaginations with the desire to work. We received new dreams for our fancies, new fields for our energy—new worlds to conquer. The record of our conquest was emblazoned with such heroic names as Avalyn Lane, William Ramey, Doris Miller, Patty Bausman, Jacqueline Dean, Blaine Merriman, Dorothy Robinson and Ruth Miller.

And so, four years after we had entered high school we were graduated, proudly bearing our mark of success. We were contented that in our conquest we were prepared now to seek a new world, face to face.

THE JUNIORS "REACHING FOR THE STARS"

"One For All and All For One"
White carnation
Blue and white

It was the last week of May, 1942. The best prom in the history of the Rensselaer High School was held under the supervision of Mrs. Martin, Mr. Holt, Boyd Page, John Reeve, and Elleen Merriman.

Recently John Reeve had been elected State Secretary of Hi-Y. Thus great honor had been brought to R. H. S.

Seventy-two Juniors had reached the third step of their high school career. They were attaining their goals, slowly but surely.

Another success of the year was the class play presented by the Juniors. There were great storms of applause for this delightful performance.

In the "Who's Who" of athletes I have recorded such names as Bowman, Lewis, Ford, Dawson, Marlin, Babcock, Shelby, Kryder, Jordan, and Moore.

Much of our education has already passed, but we continue in our struggle "to reach for the stars."

THE SOPHOMORES

"Possunt Qui Putant Posse" Yellow rose Blue and gold

No longer were we considered the babies of the school. We had become so habituated to R. H. S. and so big that people began noticing us.

We had literally fought our way up the first year. Under the tender guidance of our sponsores, Miss Russell and Mr. Davisson, and our officers we earned the right to be recognized as essentials in the school system.

Now and then, of course, a few childish tactics crept out when we harassed the new freshmen in a friendly way. Soon, however, our energies were turned to more illustrious pursuits. Football occupied the attention of such athletes as Green, Bahler, Putts, York, Battleday, Dawson, and Kryder.

We sold victory badges to swell our treasury. Basketball suddenly loomed up as the chief diversion of the day. It was delightful to watch Hancock, Putts, Cleaveland, Overton, Smith, Green, Bahler, Gates, and McColly uphold the honor of the "Baby Bombers." They symbolized our motto "Possunt Qui Putant Posse."

THE FRESHMEN "AGE OF INNOCENCE"

"We Boost, You Boost, All Benefit' White rose Blue and white,

It was the first day of our high school careers. One of the things we anticipated happened. Many of our boys discovered what marvelous hikers they were. At the intercession of our loyal Mr. Hoshaw, the harassing was soon brought under control.

The class of 1945 at once belonged heart and soul to the high school. We elected our first class officers and with Miss Lawrence and Mr. Ritchie, our sponsors, we began our tasks of winning recognition.

Phil Robinson, Daryl Lintner, Ramon Sayler, represented our class on the gridiron.

Ramon Sayler, Daryl Lintner, Junior Lowman, Edward Hudson, Edward Hartman, Donald Yeoman, James Amsler and Dwayne Gosnell were "Baby Bombers". DIFFER GROUP

"LITTLE WOMEN"

The title page of this novel contains the names of the Sunshine Society officers—Avalyn Lane, President; Patty Prouty, Vice President; Anita Putts, Treasurer; Eileen Washburn. Corres.-Secretary; and Barbara Parkinson. Recording-Secretary

When the story begins, we find forty freshmen girls being initiated at a beautiful candle-light ceremony. At the Methodist Church they make their pledge to "make the object of my life helpfulness and kindess to others."

As the story unfolds, action begins with the industrious group of Sunshiners conducting an all-school hobby contest, distributing Thanksgiving baskets, giving a Christmas party for underprivileged children, and sponsoring an all-school amateur contest.

Among the educational programs for the society was the Lincoln Day observation featuring Mrs. Harold Baker of Camden, who talked on the subject of "With Malice Toward None." The Reverend Marshon DePoister also appeared on a program, the topic of his interesting address being "Words."

Some of the outstanding incidents were the District Convention at Winamac, and the gala dance ushering in Spring on March 13. The climax came when a large delegation of Sunshiners, accompanied by Miss Kresler, sponsor, Journeyed to Battleground for the State Convention on April 18.

"KEYS OF THE KINGDOM"

THE HI-Y CLUB

Another interesting chapter was written for this book during the past year. Although each chapter is sketched upon a similar framework, every one brings forth several new ideas and stresses others which had not been fully developed. The framework is the church and its ideals. This book's primary purpose is to keep these ever before the readers (members), and to furnish the guidance and stimulus needed to attain these ideals.

The principal authors, the club officers, collaborated with the patron and sponsor of the work, William Holt, in introducing a few innovations. Night meetings were inaugurated and proved to be a success; one of the authors, John Reeve, was elected secretary of the state Hi-Y; and the club furnished cold drinks at all athletic events. Some of the other features were the revising of the club constitution, the annual banquet and dance, sending a delegation to the state conference, and the satisfaction of seeing former members of the club go into the armed forces of Uncle Sam or into vital posts in defense industries.

The officers this year were as follows: president, Keith Nesbitt, vice president, William Ramey; secretary, Hilton Bowman; treasurer, Glen Hancock. These boys worked hard to make their particular chapter a masterpiece, and if they were successful, it will, in the become evident. As usual, the athletic teams were composed mainly of Hi-Y members, and the sporismanship displayed was at all times very commendable.

And so another chapter has been written; only time can furnish the material for another.

"NOT BY BREAD ALONE"

THE DOLLY MADISON CLUB

Turning the pages of this interesting and colorful book, we find President Doris Miller, assisted by Dorothy Phegley, Ruth Miller, and Bernice Simpson, skillfully guiding the Dolly Madison girls through an eventful year.

Besides serving a series of six suppers to the Booster Club, a banquet for the Jasper County T. B. Association, a luncheon to ninety Farm Loan Association people, and lunches to the basketball boys, they have accommodated the Literary Society by modeling costumes of various countries at a style review. Their Christmas dance proved a big success.

With the proceeds from the various activities, these eighty-five girls have been able to purchase shears, dishes, silver and cooking ware for the Home Economics Department.

Educational features within the club were the etiquette and talent programs. Miss Kresler spoke on several occasions about Europe as she saw it in 1940.

In the last chapter, Miss Russell and her homemakers begin to relax after a year of high achievement

"THE MASTER CRAFTSMAN"

F. C. A.

The gragrams for the year were built upon the idea of occupations. Several Rotarians appeared on our programs and discussed for us their professions. From these discussions the Craftsmen gained a general idea of advantages and disadvantages of several different vocations.

The Craftsmen sponsored α "singing assembly." They felt the need for more community singing. With the help of Mr. Shadley and Miss Sharp the idea turned out to be α huge success.

As a defense project our club members sponsored a paper collecting campaign. The city assisted our club and enlarged our collection with the paper gathered from the business district. Many tons of paper were collected and sold, and the project proved to be most successful.

"MAIN STREET"

RENSSELAERIEN

This book, filled from cover to cover with the thrilling experiences of a newspaper office, is written by Minna Mae Bartley.

The story is built around two young co-editors of α thriving newspaper, Avalyn Lane and "Jackie" Dean. Their varied experiences with last minute stories, irresponsible reporters, and uncertain editions, hold the interest of any reader.

Their paper which is published twelve times during the year is packed with the stories of the lives of R. H. S. students.

First row, front to back: Kelly, M. C. Miller, Cook, M. G. Miller, Gratner, P. Luers, Keith, Wagner.
Second row: Amaler, Schofer, Kruger, Syvers, Lone, Daniels.
Third row: M. Luers, Yeoman, Pettel, Adoms, Jordan, Alson.

Fourth row: D. Miller, Eggleston.

"THE GOOD FARTH"

F. F. A.

Spring and summer had passed into the harvest season and hot autumn. We laid aside our ploughs and resumed our school work under the guidance of farmer Bundy. Not being content with our regular routine affairs, we assisted in promoting the Jasper County Corn Show.

The local chapter conducted a public speaking contest. Marvin Luers and Jerry Kruger were the winners who participated in the district meet. On April 3, 4, 5, two of our delegates went to the State Congress at LaFayette.

Hearing about the need of individual participation in our defense program, we sponsored defense jobs for each F.F.A. member.

Three of our boys were candidates for the State Farmer. They were Charles Stath, Glen Alson, and Delos Waling. Robert Daniels had been one of the 1941 winners of this award.

Thus spring wore on again. The love for our land called us and we again drove our plows deeper and deeper into the good earth.

"MARCHING ON"

Tramp, tramp, tramp the band is marching, Tramp, tramp, tramp, the best are we; Playing for our school games, in sunshine or in rain, And for all the civic activities.

Tramp, tramp, tramp, the band is marching,
Tramp, tramp, tramp, and ever on;
We're trumpets and cornets, saxaphones and clarinets,
Playing together under Shadley's baton.

Tramp, tramp, tramp the band is marching,
Tramp, tramp, as on we play;
For the public we try to please, with our skill and with ease,

While our uniforms add bright array.

"SING! SING! EVERYBODY SING!"

CHORUS

It was great sitting quietly and listening to the sound of 140 voices under the direction of Mr. Shadley. People thrilled at their accomplishments.

We were heard on the Armistice Day Program, at Baccalaureate and Commencement. The highlight of the year was the operetta "Words and Music." The cast consisting of Howard Johnson, Norma Spain, Delos Wood, Blaine Merriman, Jacqueline Dean, Jack Strawbridge, and Keith Schuman, was assisted by a sextette of girls and a quartette of boys. The sextette consisted of Janice Sage, Patricia Scanllin, Rosabelle Bowman, Wanda Green, Marijane Hall, and Sarah Lowry. In the boys' quartette there were Robert Shook, Paul Moore, Lowell Kruzan, and Ralph Selby.

A twenty piece orchestra furnished the music. The dances and acting were under the direction of Miss Stoner and Miss Johnson.

"MICROBE HUNTERS"

SCIENCE AND MATH CLUB

This is the story of the first microbe hunters, otherwise known as Science and Math. Club. Our great Leeuwenhoek, or leader is Dorothy Robinson. Her assistants, Jean Felder and Dorothy Phegley, ably assist her in leading these bold, persistent, and curious explorers in their delicate experiments and study of the elements in science.

Mr. Mohr and Mr. Ritchie have been a great help in the fascinating research in the study of bugs. Radio was also studied.

Today it is respectable to be a man of science. Each scientist has contributed his part toward the furthering of science, just as Dr. Louis Pasteur and other great scientists did hundreds of years ago.

Seated, left to right: Dawson, Phares, Felder, Jones, Eldridge, A. Nuss, Sanders, Fritz, Halstead, Blaze, Kurtz.

Second row: Fleming, Nesius, Boyle, Jacks, D. Nuss, England, Shumaker, Miller, Warne, Ames, Branaman, Critser, Long, McCoy, Mykraniz.

Third row: Feldhaus, Fletcher, Bachelder, S. Smith, A. Smith, Hanley, Yeoman, Stiles, Maxwell, Finch, Standing: R. A. Daughtery, Wiseman, Miss Stoner, Phegley, Scantlin, Hall, Robinson, Bausman, Kirk, Dean, Lane, Spain, Daugherty, Parkison, Cain, Cole, Edna Zimmer, Kendail, Rude, Arnett, Wilbanks, Eshleman.

Seated: Emma Zimmer, Williamson, Goad, Toben, Hasty, L. Miller, Trudeau. Standing: Martin, Washburn, Lunghi.

"ROUGHING IT"

G. A. A.

We are enthusiastic, and we have a stern thirst for adventure. Imagine the adventurous times we experienced under the leadership of Ruth Miller, and her assistants, Patty Prouty, Marjorie Jones, and Joan Jacks, who kept track of the financial books. Now it is like coming to the end of a year's Journey, and it has been thoroughly a pleasure trip. Because of the fun we have had, we hate to leave our adventures of dart games, badminton, relays, and skating parties. If there is any more fun than leading a life for a year, roughing it in G.A.A. as we have done, it must be experienced by those in story books.

Seated: Ramey, Murray, Lans.

"JUNE MAD"

Presented by the Senicr Class

That last scene was terrible and the background talk was too low. The stage lights needed adjusting. Everyone should be on time tonight for rehearsal. These were the comments heard during the staging of our class play.

After the casting of the characters had been completed, all our thoughts were turned to the "first night". Costumes were selected with minute care. Our attention was turned to the stage proper and its properties.

The night arrived: Excitement reigned supreme. Three thrilling acts kept the audience spellbound. Our efforts had not been in vain.

COSMOPOLITAN CLUB

There have always been clubs—Sunshine, Dolly Madison, Hi-Y, and others, but this year a group of juniors felt the need for another club. The Cosmopolitan Club was organized because of a desire b further relations with our good neighbors to the south.

Miss Cathcart consented to direct this club. John Reeve, as president, Elizabeth Davisson, and Norma Hershman were chosen to lay the foundation for future generations in the Cosmoolitan Club.

The club sponsored the speaker for the Armistice Day program. She was Miss Gloria Fox, exchange student, from Mexico who was attending Purdue University.

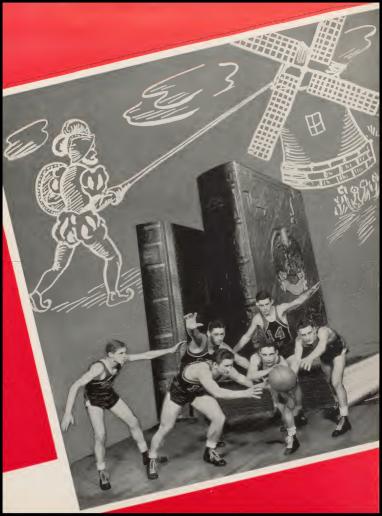

Another feature of their program was a Pan American Day convocation on April 14.

Many interesting and educational meetings were held. At one meeting, moving pictures of Brazil and Mexico were shown. Articles coming from these two countries were on display. Another outstanding meeting was one which featured Guatemala. Mrs. James Chapman spoke on her trip to Guatemala and illustrated her talk with articles she brought from that country. A valuable Guatemalan stamp collection was on display at this meeting.

The Cosmopolitan Club was given the task of compiling an honor roll of R. H. S. alumni and former students serving in any branch of the armed forces of the United States.

We are trying to find out what our neighbors to the south eat, think, and propose to do—what sort of men rule over them—whather they plan to play with us or with the foe—now that the foe has appeared.

That is what this club is striving to do.

"'KNUTF' BAUSMAN AND HIS ALL RENSSELAERIENS"

This biography of the great coach of R.H.S. is presented yearly by eleven stout hearted fellows that don't even know the meaning of the word "fear."

This year, however, "Knute" Bausman's squad had an off season. Being up against some stiff competition, they lost six out of eight games. But that should matter. They have the heart, and every team has to have an off season now and then.

The first game with East Chicago was a let down. A last minute touchdown from the Chicago eleven took away the 0 to 0 tie from the Bombers. Michigan City copped the next game while the Bombers were not in the mood. The Bombers had a heavy fall also from Valpo. Lowell had our number that night and took us down the pea patch. Our first victim was Morocco, whom we delightfully skinned. Our hopes were soon shattered, because the next game was with Crown Point, who turned the tables on us. The game with Wabash was a rip-snorter which added another game on our win list. But Monticello, in our last game, just wouldn't contribute another on to our victory list.

Eight of Knute's All Stars have played their last games for R.H.S. Wood, Woodworth, Stath, J. Lintner, Schuman, Ames, Kruzan, and Eggleston. Delos Wood made his drives and bucks with plenty of force and his kicks brought no complaints. Keith Schuman gave his all on the end runs and passes which never missed. Ames was really on the ball, going through the center and blocking. Kruzan had an accurate eye for throwing that pill back and then taking out a few foes. Woodworth, Stath, Lintner, Eggleston stopped our apponents and opened up many wide holes for the defense.

The other fellows on the squad were Moore, A. Dawson, D. Dawson, D. Lintner, Battleday, Ford, Bowman, Lewis, and Putts. Knute expects great things of these boys next year, and he'll get 'em. And of course Knute and his All Rensselaeriens lived happily ever after.

"TWO POINTS"

All of a guidden there was a tense moment. Slim was a trifle nervous. You could tell by a slight motion from one side of the bench to the other. He's up! He's down! The floor is almost worn through. The gun goes off just in time, and he doesn't have a breakdown.

The Bombers this year had plenty of speed. They were absolutely devoid of height. These midgets held their own, never once slacking down on the job. They went right to town. After some stiff competition which sometimes caused defeat, they went at the next game more fiercely. They played a fast brand of basketball, but they needed some height. That's all there was to it.

Slim sees to it that his boys always know what they are doing. He deserves a lot of credit for his teachings. His teams always get better as the season shoots by.

Nesbitt played center for the Bombers right in Wiles' footprints and did a good job. That streak? Oh, yes, that was Merriman dribbling down the floor. He's certainly a fast little forward. And Alson, too! He can really go in and fight for that ball. Babcock knows his beans about basketball and those one handed shots of his are simply divine. Dale Ames did his stuff for old R.H.S. Stath really caught on quick for his first year. That basket? Well, Dukle didn't have anything else to do, so he thought he might as well get a couple more points. That Bowman really can handle the ball. The other boys on the team were Ford, Moore, Milton, Lewis.

"WINGS OF VICTORY"

It was spring at the track and all the young "Mercuries" were out testing their wings . The feeling of speed was in the air. Glory was the goal to accomplish. Glory for old R.H.S.

Old faithful, Gamster, kept up his pace in the hundred assisted by Ford, a new flash. Chappie Bowman's fast mile was there; but Duke, his own kin, and also new at the game gave him competition, much competition.

Rensselaer took part in many meets, among them the Midwest, Valpo, and North Judson. They were successful in all of these meets

R. H. S. DIARY

Sept. 8- Students of R.H.S., sunburned, tanned, belonged, and with burn hair cuts, trudged into the welcoming halls.

Sept 12—Slim's bashful (D. Lintner to youse guys who ain't in the know) Bombers open the football season against Roosevelt of East Chicago.

Oct. 17—Rensselaeriens hold first dance of the year. Johnny Moore gives out with a little lowdown rhythm.

Oct. 21-22-23—Students don cleanest bibs, best tuckers, and biggest hairbow, and pose for our congenial photographer. Word reaches our ever listening ear that the Hi-Y picture is forever indebted to Holcomb and Dawson.

Oct. 23-Thanksaiving vacation! Nuff said

Nov. 7—Dolly Madison stages a dance—from the halls of R.H.S. to the halls of R.H.S. comes the melodious melodies of such big name bands as B. Goodman, T. Dorsey, and G. Miller—on recording.

Nov. 12—Very impressive Hi-Y initiation with Keith Nesbitt, president, inducting twenty-six new members into the club.

Nov. 13 Band Stages a spread turkey and plenty of it.

Dec. 2. You have heard of "Kitten on the Keys" but have you heard of "Hayes on the Ratters?" Don't get excited, lass and lassles, 'twas only the production of the Senior Class Play, "June Mad."

Dec. 3—Miss Kresler and her proteges (The Brain Fellas) make an educational journey to the Windy City.

Dec. 11 Everything from dogs to blotters (yea, Halstead) displayed in the gym—Sunshine comes through with a brand new idea—Hobby Show.

Jan. 1-Annual New Year's Tourney held in gym Rensselaer doesn't hit pay dirt.

Jan. 15—Sunshine amateur show unearths hidden talent—Hoover and Felder stop the show with their skit, "Romeo and Juliet."

Jan. 21 Many cases of eye-strain noted around school as semester tests get under way.

Feb. 12—Lincoln's birthday celebrated. Mrs. Baker of Camden speaks on "With Malice Toward None." Bill Woodworth tired of being a gentleman.

Feb. 26, 27, 28—Woe in our hearts and faces long, we students don't bring home a victory. Our bitter rival, Brook, knocks us off, and then goes on to win the tourney.

March 2. Our neighbors across the way celebrate not at home but in the portals of R.H.S. Good sportsmanship puts them on probation a year. Enuff said!

March 9—Seen coming from "That little room" are many shaky Freshmen and big brave Seniors after tuking the Tuberculin Test.

March 13—We blushing girls of R.H.S. turn out to be not quite so blushing and rush our favorite Adonis off to the Annual Sunshine Dance.

March 27 Band Dance held in gymnasium with Johnny Moore's orchestra. Girls! Did you notice that good-looking boy there?

April 8—High School operetta "Words and Music" held. Swede Schuman says he feels right at home in his part. Well, why shouldn't he.

April 10 Hi-Y Banquet and Dance. Hi-Y now retaliates. Remember Sunshiners?

April 14 Cathcart and her Cosmo puts on a Pan American Day program.

April 24-They've done it again. Spring shindig sponsored by speculating sowers.

May 5—Junior play. Mrs. Martin and her merry marionettes make gym α mad house of mirth.

May 22—Prom. Can the Juniors handle a hop? They sure can. One of the best proms in R.H.S. history.

May 24-Baccalaureate. Seniors begin to bid bye bye to bygones of R.H.S. Hate to have you leave us, Seniors.

May 27 - Commencement causes commotion as clinging caresses bring sorrow with departing.
